

Ethics – A Perspective for The Practice of Esoteric Healing

There are differences of opinions in the world about what is right and wrong on almost any issue. With Esoteric Healing, the use of ethics is important not only when working with the energetics of another person but in creating our part in right human relationships. This is the reason we are creating a series of short articles focusing on points of ethics that truly need to be acknowledged and discussed.

“If healing occurs, I will never profess to have been solely responsible.” Bridges, ISSSEEM Magazine, Vol 10, 1999.

I have a client whom I have been working with since last Halloween when she was diagnosed with Parkinson’s Disease. She was referred to me by a friend who learned I had been working with another client with Parkinson’s.

As this was an early diagnosis – as early as Parkinson’s appears for diagnosis – I was hopeful to at least help maintain the status quo and slow the progression.

Using the Neurocranial protocol Dr. Briner taught us, additional research and a fabulous article Brenda Sstrom posted on the NAEH Facebook page, – thanks Brenda! – I was able to expand my knowledge of the anatomy and hone in on possible trouble spots. After a few months of fairly intensive work, she came in one day with purple highlights in her hair and said she felt better than she had in a long time – ready to keep on living. Yea!!

Her neurologist requested a Parkinson’s test as her original diagnosis was given by another doctor. When she came by for another session after her results came back, the test showed she did not have Parkinson’s. We were both, of course, dancing to the news when she then said I had healed her. Looking at her I said “No, I didn’t. You did. The soul is the healer of the form. I may have facilitated but you, your soul did the healing. And besides, Parkinson’s is a hard disease to diagnose. It may have been misdiagnosed to begin with. We don’t know.” The little ego or personality is often ready to step in and claim the fame, feel the power. See what I did! Healing is a dance between the individual and their soul. As facilitators, we listen for the music and help to bring it down into the form.

We have agreed to continue with the protocol.

Alice Bailey writes in “From Bethlehem to Calvary,” page 279, quoting Dr. Schweitzer: “Civilization originates when men become inspired by a strong and clear determination to attain progress, and consecrate themselves, as a result of this determination, to the service of life and of the world. It is only in ethics that we can find the driving force for such action, transcending as it does, the limits of our own existence.”
